

SOVIETS' SUPERBOMB BLAST REPORTED

Clay Blasts Vopos For Berlin Incident

BERLIN (AP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay today blamed Communist East German police for "irresponsible and illegal behavior" causing an incident on the border involving U.S. troops.

Taylor, President Kennedy's special envoy in Berlin, spoke up after a squad of U.S. troops twice marched into Red-ruled East Berlin Sunday night with bayonets fixed to escort E. Allan Lightner Jr., top State Department official in Berlin. East German police had stopped Lightner's car. The East Germans did not try to interfere with the U.S. soldiers.

The U.S. soldiers were backed up by three Patton tanks that moved up to the border. The tanks stood guard through the night but were withdrawn this morning. But East German police at the border were reinforced.

The behavior of the East German people's police, "created the incident and forced the United States to send a military escort into the Soviet sector to assist the U.S. minister in exercising his right of free entry and free movement in the Soviet sector," the statement said.

Deputy Chief of Mission

Lightner is deputy chief of the U.S. mission, ranking behind the U.S. ambassador to West Germany. As top State Department official in Berlin, he holds the rank of minister.

Protests were expected from the Communists against the action of the American troops in escorting Lightner into East Berlin.

Lightner, driving to an East Berlin theater with his wife, was stopped by East German Vopos — People's Police — when he refused to show his identification papers.

The Western powers do not recognize the East German regime and maintain the Vopos have no right to check vehicles with Allied license plates.

The Vopo captain in charge of the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint charged Lightner had been drinking and deliberately injured a Vopo guard by ramming him against another car.

"At no time during the course of the evening did Mr. Lightner run into or injure anybody," a U.S. mission spokesman said.

A U.S. spokesman gave this account of Sunday night's events:

At 7:15 p.m. Lightner, accompanied by his wife, arrived at the American checkpoint on Friedrichstrasse in his privately owned American-licensed sedan. The Vopos refused to let him into the East zone unless he showed his identification. Lightner refused and asked for a Soviet officer to be called.

By 8 p.m. no Soviet officer had appeared. Lightner drove past the Vopo guards and through a zig-zag barrier beyond the Communist checkpoint. There he was stopped again.

At 9 p.m., eight American MPs led by Lt. Claude L. Stults Jr., of Livingston, Tenn., moved across the border and formed a walking escort for Lightner and his wife, who drove forward to Leipzigerstrasse, round the first block and back into the American sector.

At 9:15 p.m. Lightner, alone in his car, drove in a second time, again escorted by armed MPs. After five minutes they returned to the U.S. sector.

At 9:40 the U.S. provost marshal, Lt. Col. Robert A. Sabolyk, crossed the border to make a personal protest to the Soviet officer who had meanwhile appeared at the communist checkpoint.

At 10:40 p.m., a convoy of American, British and French

Red Group Still Under Attack

Rally Speakers Rip 'Personality Cult'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress went into its sixth session today after delegates were assured that the so-called antiparty group will not be allowed to rise again.

Premier Khrushchev's economic expert, Alexei Kosygin, took up the condemnation Saturday of the group led by ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov and ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Khrushchev revived the subject Tuesday, and speakers each day since have been echoing him.

While extolling Khrushchev for his peaceful coexistence policy, Kosygin emphasized that the days of the "personality cult"—as exemplified by the adulation of Stalin—were over.

Kosygin, a member of the ruling party Presidium, told the delegates that the Molotov-Malenkov faction exposed in 1957 is not being given another raking over out of fear.

Kosygin said, "Our party is strong and united as never before. But we are doing this so as to show again to the party and people where the personality cult leads, what irrevocable damage the antiparty group could have inflicted to the party and government. We want the lessons of history never to be forgotten."

Film Magnate Schenck Dies In Sleep at 82

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joseph M. Schenck, who made $4.50 a week as an immigrant boy in New York and a fortune as lord of a celluloid empire in Hollywood, is dead at 82.

Schenck helped develop such diverse talents as Fatty Arbuckle and Marilyn Monroe and had a hand in founding four major entertainment enterprises during his long career.

He was generally an off-stage figure, but scandal once brought him prominence—and a brief prison term.

He died in his sleep Sunday at his Beverly Hills home. He had been in failing health since he suffered a broken hip more than two years ago.

Buster Keaton, John Barrymore and Constance Talmadge were among those who achieved stardom under Schenck's guidance. He oversaw direction of films starring Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Rudolph Valentino.

He was one of the organizers of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. and United Artists Theaters, Inc. He later formed Magna Corp. with the late Mike Todd and at the time of his death was head of Joseph M. Schenck Enterprises, a motion picture producing firm.

Romanian Dignitaries At Church Services

Nearly 500 Romanians attended consecration services Sunday at the newly-remodeled St. John Evangelist Church on S. Lundy and the banquet that followed at the Society Leul Hall.

The above picture was taken at the start of the ceremony at the church, with Bishop Valerian D. Trifa (standing between two altar boys) and Rev. John N. Toconita, assistant to the bishop, beginning their "Blessing of the walls" before the service inside.

The bishop came here from Grass Lake, Mich., headquarters of the Vatra Romaniasca. Soil brought from their native Romania was sealed in the altar table during the church service.

Rev. Trian Vintila, pastor, took part in the elaborate ceremony. The Romanian Orthodox Choir from Akron sang. Others participating included Rev. Faica of Akron, Rev. Postolnik of Warren, and Rev. Moldovan of Sharon.

At the banquet that followed in Romanian Hall, talks were given by Bishop Trifa and Serafin Buta of Youngstown. Mayor Dean Cranmer welcomed the group.

The bishop stressed the "opportunity that exists only in America for freedom to worship and an opportunity to earn a livelihood at a job of one's choice."

Arnold Popa, president of the Romanian Church Council, headed the arrangements committee. The dinner was served by the women's auxiliary.

U. N. Nears Vote On Nuclear Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. members neared a vote today on whether their first appeal against nuclear weapon tests should be against all of them or just against the Soviet Union's threatened 50-megaton blast.

Meanwhile, reports circulated that Russia exploded its superbomb this morning.

Denmark proposed that the 10-nation Political Committee vote first on a seven-nation resolution appealing to the Soviet government not to explode the giant bomb which Premier Khrushchev last week said probably would be touched off by the end of the month.

India wants the committee to vote first on its resolution urging all atomic powers to refrain from all further nuclear tests until a test-ban agreement is reached.

Britain and the United States are sponsoring a third resolution urging resumption of their negotiations with the Soviet Union for a test ban and calling for a progress report to the U.N. Disarmament Commission by next March.

This resolution was submitted first, but the sponsors were expected to yield priority to the seven-nation resolution appealing to the Soviets.

The United States has told the committee it will not stop its underground nuclear tests again until a test-ban treaty is signed and that it may have to start tests in the atmosphere. Britain agreed with this position.

Many Hunters Marooned by Sudden Storm

Two Feet of Snow In Idaho; More Forecast Today

BURLEY, Idaho (AP)—A sudden snowstorm marooned hundreds of hunters south of here Saturday on the first day of deer season. Scores were feared still stranded by four-foot drifts today.

Many wore light clothing and carried few provisions, expecting to be in the hills only a day.

Two or three thousand hunters thronged to three game units south of Burley and Twin Falls Saturday.

One hunter died of a heart attack and two others were reported missing south of Burley, where up to two feet of snow fell.

"It's hard to say just how many are still stranded," said Police Chief George E. Warrell of Burley. "A bunch of the hunters went back in and we can't figure out who's lost and who isn't."

More snow was forecast today. Authorities planned air drops of food if the weather permitted. A low ceiling hampered aerial scouting and air drops Sunday.

Ground parties, using snow plows and heavy vehicles, worked around the clock.

The storm also hit southward in northern Utah where about 150,000 hunters were out for the opening of deer season.

Snow also fell from Northeast Montana into sections of North Dakota, while showers broke out along a cold front which spread into the nation's midsection. Gusty winds swept some areas in the showers belt which extended from the Upper Great Lakes southwestward into Central Oklahoma.

Salem Woman Hurt In Crash

Patrol Probes 6 Weekend Mishaps

A Salem woman was injured in one of six accidents that occurred on Columbiana County Highways over the weekend.

Mrs. Dorothy Morrow, 58, of 1693 E. State St., is listed in satisfactory condition at Salem Central Clinic with possible fractures of the ribs and contusions of the left arm.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Hugh Morrow, which collided with another auto on Rt. 14, near Unity, at 5:50 p.m. Sunday.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Johnny Jones, 59, of Wells-ville, pulled from Rt. 170 into the side of the Morrow's car which was traveling on Rt. 14. Jones was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

A car and a tractor-trailer were involved in a mishap on Rt. 14, about four miles east of Columbiana, at 7:25 p.m. Sunday. The truck, driven by Blaine Ellis, 33, of Canton, was attempting to pass a car operated by Harvey Seeger, 71, of New Springfield when Seeger made a left turn and struck the side of the tractor-trailer, the Patrol reported.

Cars driven by two East Liverpool men collided on Rt. 30, just north of the East Liverpool corporation line, at 2:45 p.m. Sunday. The Patrol said Thurman Blazer, 70, had slowed down for traffic when his car was struck from the rear by an auto operated by

Test Is Recorded Around the Globe

By The Associated Press
The Soviet Union set off a giant nuclear explosion today.

A Swedish expert said there is reason to believe the bomb was at or near the 50-megaton range promised by Premier Khrushchev.

A spokesman for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission suggested caution in speculating about the explosion until more information becomes available.

The observatory at Uppsala, Sweden, said today's explosion was twice as heavy as any recorded for previous Soviet tests in the series that began last month.

The explosion also was recorded in France and Japan.

Premier Khrushchev told the Communist party congress last week that the current series of Soviet tests probably would conclude at the end of this month with the testing of a thermonuclear device equivalent to 50 million tons of TNT.

Some versions of Khrushchev's speech had the explosion pegged for Oct. 30 or 31.

A storm of protest against plans for the blast has been building up in the United Nations and elsewhere in the world. Thus the Soviet Union conceivably could have decided to go ahead with the test ahead of the scheduled time. There was no confirmation of this, however, from Moscow or any other source within the first few hours after today's blast went off.

Dr. Arthur Baath, of the Uppsala Seismological Institute, said he found reason to believe today's explosion was of a 50-megaton bomb. But in Washington an AEC spokesman said:

AEC Urges Caution
"It takes a certain amount of time to analyze this thing. From what we know, some caution needs to be exercised concerning the Swedish report insofar as a 50-megaton device is concerned. Japanese sources had estimated at 10 megatons the strength of a previous Soviet test bomb in September."

Dr. Baath said:
"If today's explosion took place in the same area and at approximately the same altitude as earlier tests, the power of the bomb must have been considerably stronger than any previous Soviet nuclear detonation in the Novaya Zemlya area."

"This blast must have been registered 'round the globe. In Previous Test Area
"The estimated epicenter of the explosion was located in the general direction of Novaya Zemlya. It was situated 1,300 miles northeast of Uppsala in the area used for earlier Russian atomic experiments."

"The explosion was registered

Hays Plans Paris Trip, Far East Tour

Plans for attending a NATO conference in Paris and then making a tour of several Far Eastern countries were announced by Rep. Wayne L. Hays of the 18th Congressional District at a dinner meeting held Saturday night at the Rogers Community Hall by the Central Columbiana County Democratic Club and Democrats of the community.

Two hundred attended. Hays said he will leave for the NATO conference Nov. 9. He said he has been requested by President Kennedy to tour India, Pakistan, Hong Kong and Japan to study the foreign aid program and help determine what can be done to put it on a sound footing.

During his other remarks, Hays said the farm income this year is up a billion and a half dollars, the highest it has been for 11 years. He also enumerated the accomplishments of the last session of Congress and explained the seniority system used in Congress.

Hays hinted he would seek reelection but didn't make an official announcement. He was introduced by Don Gosney of Columbiana, county Democratic chairman.

County Judge Herbert Arfman was toastmaster. Lew Sowards, president of the county club, presided.

Following his talk, Hays left to participate in half time ceremonies of the Beaver Local football game.

Backs Gilpatric Statement

Rusk Says U. S. Will Parley From Position of Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, backing a Pentagon official's declaration that the United States has the retaliatory power to crush any aggressor, says any U.S. approach to negotiation with the Soviet Union would be from a position of strength.

Rusk emphatically identified himself Sunday with the assessment of U.S. military power by Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense. In a speech Saturday night, Gilpatric said the United States "has a nuclear retaliatory force of such lethal power that an enemy move which brought it into play would be an act of self-destruction on his part."

Appearing on a television interview program — ABC — "Issues and Answers" Rusk was asked what made it possible now for the administration "to speak out so confidently and positively" on U.S. military power.

"I think this is a point about which there ought to be more general public understanding, because when you are in problems of negotiation, the question inevitably comes up from time to time whether you are negotiating from a position of strength or of weakness or whether you have cause to be nervous or confident," Rusk replied.

"The point is that the United States and its allies are strong. Mr. Khrushchev must know that we are strong, and he does know that we are strong."

At the same time, Rusk discounted speculation that the U.S. position had hardened in its approach to a Berlin settlement.

Rusk said he went over the speech with Gilpatric before the defense official delivered it at a meeting of the Business Council at Hot Springs, Va.

Even before Rusk made public his approval of Gilpatric's statement, it was obvious that the speech was prepared with the sanction of the White House and State Department. In answer to a reporter's questions, a Pentagon spokesman said Saturday that the Gilpatric text had been given "the highest possible clearance."

A protozoan is a microscopic organism consisting of a single living cell.

The study of the protozoan is a part of our scientists' attempt to solve the mysteries of living matter. Their findings could affect the lives of all of us in the years ahead.

For America's well-being we need all the scientists we can develop. Yet many potential scientists may never go on to higher education because there may not be room for them in college. Many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

1 Killed, 50 Hurt As Movie House Ceiling Collapses

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The ceiling of a neighborhood movie house collapsed Sunday night, plunging the fantasy world inside into a real-life nightmare.

One woman was crushed to death under the tons of rubble. Officials said 50 or more persons, including many children, were hurt, apparently none critically.

"I screamed and screamed and jumped under the seat and screamed some more as all this stuff fell on top of the seat," said Ida Montelare, 13.

She escaped unhurt but her cousin, Michael Lenz, 7, was injured. Bruised and stunned as he was led to an ambulance, Michael said over and over: "I ran and I crawled."

An audience estimated at 65 to 100 was in the one-story Nola Theater—about 5 miles east of downtown New Orleans—watching the thriller "Homicidal."

Fire Chief Howard Dey said the projectionist told him there was a sudden crackling noise. A few seconds later, a two-foot layer of the world.

plaster and steel mesh fell from the 35-foot ceiling. It dropped in one massive piece like a blanket, covering the entire 400-seat theater except for the last four rows. Heavy palls of dust clogged the air as crawling rescue workers cut a hole near the center of the rubble to pull out the body of Mrs. Bertrand Odinet, 64.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For Years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and end of fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

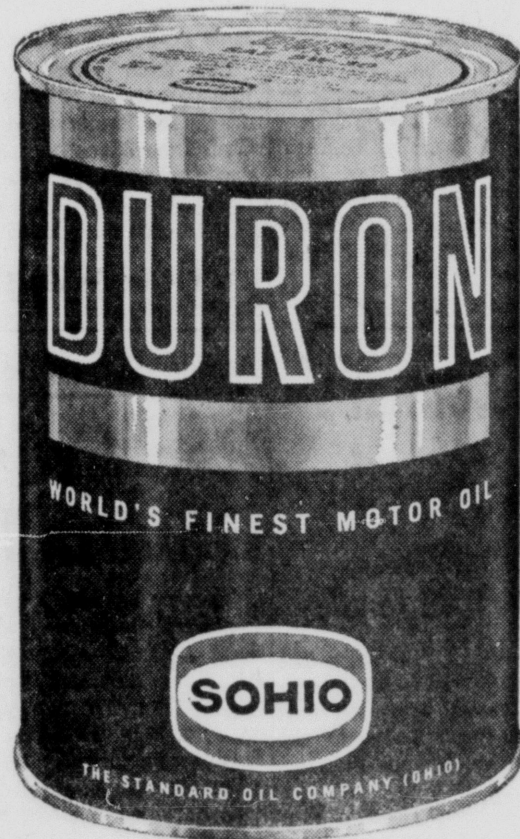

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have or even have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas.

Sohio Science breaks the 3-grade barrier with the World's First 4-Grade Motor Oil

Duron—the first motor oil that meets all automobile manufacturers' requirements under all driving conditions

Once in a very great while there comes to an industry a development that thrusts aside the limitations of the past and opens up new horizons. Such a development has now come to motor oil.

It has long been known that real engine performance and protection under all driving conditions require a 4-grade motor oil—4 grades in a single can. Until now, the best motor oils you could buy were 3-grade motor oils—3 grades in a single can. Sohio Science has broken this 3-grade barrier. Sohio Science has created the world's first 4-grade motor oil—Duron Motor Oil—a super lubricant!

Duron breaks the 3-grade barrier and moves to a new high on the quality scale.

The story of this new motor oil begins more than four years ago. Sohio scientists had found that important additional engine benefits would result if Sohio's unique ultra-high viscosity index oils were combined with chemicals known as polymers. Such an oil could completely fill all the viscosity needs of an automobile engine at all temperatures. Such an oil could, for the first time, combine the maximum protection and low oil consumption of an SAE 30 weight oil with the easier starting, instant lubrication and lower gasoline consumption of an SAE 5W oil.

Duron is the oil for every car

Early this year, the final problems were solved. Duron SAE 5W-30 Motor Oil is now a reality—available at every Sohio station! Even though it requires far more expensive ingredients to make this kind of oil, the price is only 85¢ a quart. The benefits of Duron far outweigh the additional cost. Duron is a motor oil with benefits for every car, new or old. It is the first motor oil that meets all automobile manufacturers' requirements under all driving conditions.

Special benefits for present users of "All Season" 10W-30 oils

If you are one of the hundreds of thousands of motorists in Ohio now using a 3-grade "all season" oil of the 10W-30 type, Duron will give you the full protection and low oil consumption of a 30-weight oil. At the same time, it will give you cold weather performance you've never enjoyed before. If you open a can of Duron and a can of high-quality, 3-grade, 10W-30 oil at near zero temperature and pour them out, you'll find that Duron flows twice as fast. This means that Duron is going to travel faster throughout your engine on cold mornings. You'll have far better protection against wear which is greatest at starting. Your engine will start faster, warm up faster. And you'll use less gasoline, too. No other oil can deliver the combination of Duron's protection and Duron's performance because no other oil is 4 grades in 1!

Special benefits for users of winter oils

If you use a single grade or a double grade winter oil, you'll find that with Duron, your car will start and warm up better this winter than it ever has before. And if you normally have oil consumption in winter, you'll find you will use less oil with Duron.

AUTOMOBILES REQUIRE 4-GRADES OF MOTOR OIL FOR COMPLETE PERFORMANCE AND PROTECTION
1	2	3	4
3-GRADES			3-GRADES CANNOT DO THE COMPLETE JOB
4-GRADE DURON			DURON IS THE COMPLETE MOTOR OIL

Extra Duron benefits

In addition to being the world's first 4-grade motor oil, Duron has a built-in dispersancy to stop sludge from forming on engine parts. Our tests show this superior dispersancy keeps engines so clean that engine cleanliness is no longer a problem. And this dispersancy has an enduring quality you can depend on.

Duron also makes a special attack on engine rust. If you have noticed a valve lifter clatter in your engine when it starts, this may be due to rust which results from water condensing in your engine. Our tests show that Duron is particularly effective in preventing valve lifter clatter due to rust.

We expect that Duron Motor Oil will become the largest selling motor oil in Ohio. We urge you to put it in your car now. We believe that once you do you will never use any other kind of motor oil.

Remote Control Lighting In Homes Gains In Popularity

Remote control lighting systems for the home have been available since 1945, but did not become popular then because few homes had enough installed lighting fixtures to make such a system worthwhile.

With the recent comeback of the lighting fixture, a definite trend toward the use of remote control lighting seems to have developed. A manufacturer survey shows that installations of remote control systems doubled within the past two years and are expected to double again by the end of 1962.

REMOTE CONTROL lighting permits switching of lights from remote points. Like the ordinary home thermostat or the doorbell, the system operates on low voltages. Conduit or heavy metallic cable is not needed in most cases. Thus, the costs of installation and operation are well within the range of the average home buyer.

At the present time installations are being made mostly in homes costing $15,000 or more. Lighting experts split the advantages of the low voltage remote control systems between safety and convenience. Studies and common sense spell out the dangers of moving from lighted areas to dark ones. With remote control, you may turn on all the lights along your intended path at the starting point and turn them off during your passage or at your destination. This can entirely eliminate the danger and hazard of being in darkness and the inconvenience of having to backtrack to turn lights off.

THE VARIATIONS OF remote control systems are almost limitless. But the key in every instance is the master control panel. Normally located at the main entrance and in the master bedroom (two master controls are recommended), these master selector switches control up to a dozen circuits each—individually or all together. This means that should the housewife hear a disturbing noise at night, a twist of the dial or touch of a switch on the master control at her bedside can flood her home and grounds in light.

It also means that the man of the house can turn off the alarm with one hand in the morning and turn on the light in the bathroom and the automatic coffeemaker in the kitchen with the other.

LIGHT FIXTURES in the living room may be turned on by a master panel in the bedroom and turned off by a switch in the living room and vice versa. The same living room may also have switches at each entrance, so that on another occasion lights may be turned on as you enter, and turned off as you pass through and leave.

Many switches are equipped with soft lights so they can be located in the dark. Some even have pilot lights to remind you that a light is on, perhaps in the basement or yard.

LOW VOLTAGE SWITCHING systems are simply a departure from industrial control systems that use low voltage switches and relays to switch on high voltage motor and equipment.

In the home, a small transformer, the same as used for doorbells and thermostats, enables the switching system to operate at 24 volts or lower. Lightweight wiring is run to small relays which trip the circuit when a switch is turned on. Also the low voltage conductors virtually eliminate the danger of fire or shock.

Noisy Piping System Can Be Silenced

A good plumbing system is a quiet system with a full and adequate flow of water at all fixtures and to all water-connected appliances. Yet with the passing of time, many plumbing systems that were quiet when installed, develop noises.

The noise may be a loud bang when a faucet is shut off. The faster the faucet is shut off, the louder the noise. This is water hammer, caused by a loose washer in a faucet. This type of noise will continue as long as water is drawn.

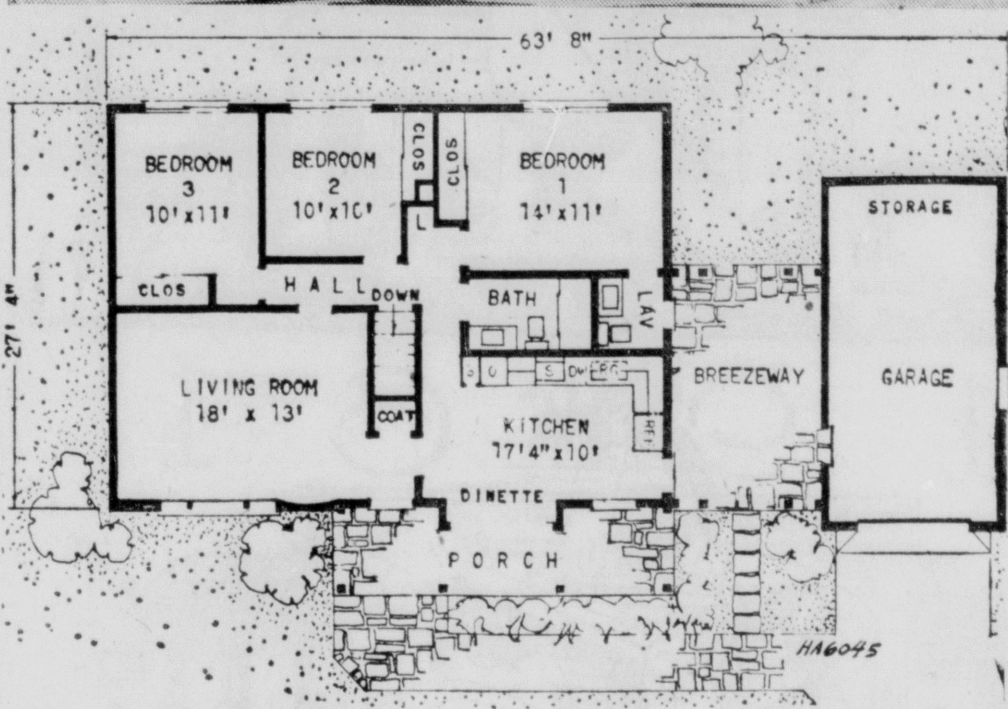

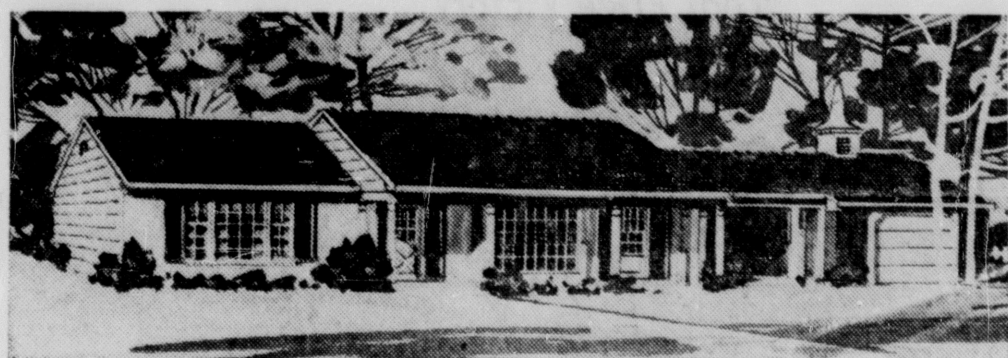

Water hammer, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau explains is not only annoying to the occupants of a house but is also harmful to the piping system. Unless corrected, water hammer will cause leakage around the joints in the pipe or at weak points in the line.

A good plumbing system has air chambers at all fixtures. An air chamber is a length of pipe, usually about two feet, installed where the faucets or valves are connected to the piping system. Eventually these chambers become filled with water. In this case it is necessary to eliminate the water from the air chambers so they will again function properly. This is done by draining the water from the piping system.

The procedure, according to the Bureau, is to open a faucet at the lowest point in the piping system. All faucets and valves should be opened a little bit so that air can enter. The water closets should be shut off and not flushed while the recharging is in process.

In extreme cases the installation of special shock absorbers at strategic places in the piping may be necessary to obtain a noiseless system.

Beyond the basic maintenance of cleaning drains, replacing washers, and draining the piping system, every home owner should rely on the advice and service of a competent plumbing contractor.

FOR THE SITE WITH A VIEW — Living room and kitchen both face front, with plenty of windows for all-day outdoor viewing. Three bedrooms are in back for privacy. The 1,100-square-foot house, which also has attached breezeway and garage, was designed by Derick B. Kipp, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y. Plan is HA6045.

Patching Up An Old Roof Is Usually Waste of Time

Patch up or replace?

That's a question many a home owner must face when his roof begins to leak or look shabby.

Most authorities on home repair agree: don't try to repair an old roof. It usually will cost more in the long run, because walking on an old roof to make repairs can open up new leaks. A complete new roof is the most practical answer.

Because they are low in applied cost, tough and durable, and can be applied over the old roof, asphalt shingles are chosen eight out of ten times when a new roof is needed. Applying them over the old roof eliminates the costly, messy job of removing old roofing, gives protection from rain while the job is being done, and provides increased insulation.

A new roof of asphalt shingles will provide years of maintenance-free protection from wind, water and fire. Since asphalt shingles resist sparks and flying brands, they are rated as fire resistant and approved by zoning code for even the most densely populated cities.

The attractive range of colors now available is another reason asphalt shingles are preferred for reroofing.

Asphalt shingle roofing is a quality building material which deserves to be properly applied to take advantage of the long, trouble-free protection it offers. It is especially important in cold sections of the country to install an eaves flashing strip of heavy roll roofing to guard against ice dams. These are accumulations of ice that build up in gutters, forcing water up under improperly applied roofing material. Resulting leakage can cause considerable damage inside the house.

Money Spent In Remodeling Often Sound Investment

Many an expanding family is faced with the problem of finding more room. Some solve it by building or buying a new house. More, however, prefer to fix up the old house because it is cheaper, because they like its location, or because of the sentiment attached to the house where they have been living.

Remodeling, many families have found, can turn out to be the best investment they can make today, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

Remodeling will always give the family better living facilities for much less than what a new house would cost. Remodeling dollars seem to go further. Furthermore, the money spent in remodeling is always a good investment in terms of stabilizing or increasing the value of the property.

In all modernizing work designed to make room for an expanding family, plumbing is a vital factor. Invariably the family needs one or more additional bathrooms. The problem usually is how and where to find room for them.

In many homes the problem isn't how to find space for an additional bathroom or two but how to go about it to modernize an old bathroom. There is no place in the home where such significant improvements in appearance and utility can be made at such moderate cost as in the bathroom.

Whether an old bathroom is to be modernized or an additional bathroom.

Can A Lame Duck Win?

Although Gov. DiSalle has revealed he will not seek re-election next year, he has not removed all the mystery from the political aspects of his decision.

The mystery is this: Why does he reason that his withdrawal from the race for governor will increase his influence in selling the program he has espoused for Ohio?

Seeking the answer to that question leads to the element of surprise in the governor's announcement.

None of his backers and relatively few of his opponents have questioned the sincerity of his belief in his program. There is no denying that he has worked as hard as any of his predecessors—and harder than many—at formulating his program and trying to put it across to his fellow officeholders and the voters of Ohio.

HE HAS SCORED some successes and some setbacks. It is the prime characteristic of political war that the setbacks often seem to outweigh the successes.

This certainly has been often true of Gov. DiSalle. One of his talents seems to be the ability to embroil himself in controversy. His backers say it is the result of his courage in speaking the truth. His opponents say it is the result of the wrongness of his positions.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that many, perhaps most, political observers felt the sincerity of Gov. DiSalle's belief in what he sees as right for Ohio would lead him inevitably to seek re-election—to stake his personal political future on his ability to persuade Ohioans that he is right.

Instead, he has taken just the opposite position. He says he believes he can persuade more people if he is not the candidate.

There may be logic in the strategy. But politics seldom operates by logic, and the accepted theory is that a "lame duck" official loses rather than gains power to influence voters.

THIS IN ITSELF can become an issue in next year's campaign. Is the governor right in assuming that the voters will pay more attention to him if he is on the way out than they would if he were trying to stay in?

As is the way in politics, only time will provide the answer.

Perhaps the result of next year's campaign will be to show that Mike DiSalle has left a mark on the governor's office which no successor of either party will be able to remove.

And perhaps that is what Mike DiSalle was hoping for when he made his decision not to run again.

On This We Can Agree

To whatever degree it's observed, Oct. 24 again will be United Nations Day—and the observance will be a now familiar mixture of praise and contempt.

It has seemed to us in the past and it seems to us now that somewhere between these extremes of feelings is where most people take their stand on the United Nations.

It has been a disappointment; everybody can agree on that. It has not been a great success; we can all agree on that, too. But neither has it been a complete failure. And if it were to be scuttled, because it has not been a success, something like it would have to be substituted because it has become an integral part of international practices. Governments wouldn't know what to do without it.

The United Nations isn't the first attempt to bring order out of international chaos that has been a disappointment. From the empire builders of the pre-Christian era up through the Holy Roman Empire and into the modern era of the League of Nations and the United Nations, men have tried to substitute order for international chaos.

Their success is marked by the intervals of peace that have occurred between collapses of order. The United Nations, which is blamed for not having brought about the circumstances of peace, must be given credit for not having brought about the circumstances of war, either. It has not been able to undo all the errors of the past, nor can it overcome all the mischief of the present.

But it has provided an environment for discussion and diagnosis, even if it hasn't provided cure-alls for the world's ills. For this it must be appreciated even while it is being condemned for its failures, which are the failure of its component elements, not of the United Nations itself. It cannot transmute bad faith into good faith. It can only give governments a chance to explore possibilities of agreement by revealing where their disagreements lie.

For this, United Nations Day is deeply meaningful for all people who never expected perfection and are not minded to discard what is imperfect until they have something that promises to work better.

End of a Noble Experiment

There was no waiting when the Ohio Legislature abolished sales tax receipts, and there is no waiting because a last-ditch move to get a statewide vote failed.

This is the end of a noble experiment.

The receipts were supposed to make the sales tax more efficient here than in states with no built-in method for making certain the taxpayer's money actually was going into the state treasury. When the politicians got through with the system in Ohio it had been turned into a patronage grab-bag, but that is an indictment of politicians, not of the receipt system.

When enthusiasm for the system began to wane we did everything we could to preserve it from its critics because the Ohio Retail Merchants Association was behind it—and what better reason could there be? Retail merchants were the collectors. Without their cooperation, Ohio would need an army of publicans to handle sales tax money.

But when the issue came to a showdown this year, the merchants turned against it, too. The only friends it had left were organizations that redeemed receipts for charitable purposes, and they were fighting a losing battle, because without widespread support the receipt system couldn't survive.

If there's a moral, it would seem to be that any system requiring the general public to make it work is bound to fail eventually because the general public refuses to be involved in government to the extent of working at it day in and day out in all the highways and byways of daily living.

Once Over

Head of European gypsies wants creation of a gypsy state and admission to United Nations. Probably modern travel conditions on the open road, rural and city, are such that gypsies are afraid to continue outdoor life in the old-fashioned way without protection. The foundation of gypsy life has been freedom to enjoy life in carefree happiness. Now they want the same right as everybody else to participate in troubled existence.

Creation of a State of Gypsylant and a seat in the East River temple of disorder and mutual suspicions would give color to the scene, but gypsies sticking long in one place would seem odd, unless the U.N. needs fortune-telling booths. (Could be.) Main trouble in U.N. now is that members can see what's in their future. A little help would be so appreciated they might even bring their own tea leaves.

NOT ONLY A SEAT for gypsies but tents and signs "Fortunes told here" might be an asset. The tents would do big business, with some of the world's best known diplomats waiting in line for better information than they get from their governments. But suppose Zorin or Gromyko found Adlai Stevenson inside a tent while they were at end of line? This could bring Soviet demand for a fortune telling "troika" or even a head palm reader whose predictions were subject to review by committee of six.

Would Gypsylant be on the side of the U.S.S.R. or the free world? You would assume it would be for the free world, and a neutral gypsy in an issue between a crisis over existence cramped by barbed wire and stone walls would be quite a switch. Khrush might say Russia always had been the gypsy's friend, and begin to ship them brighter earrings and shawls by spaceship. Washington is watching the situation. Its fear is that a Gypsylant with a U.N. seat would mean U.S. would now have to make big loans and supply gypsies with gypsy orchestras.

PRESIDENT KEKKONEN of Finland is visiting U.S. A ticker tape parade should be arranged to give people a chance to see the head of a nation which has always paid its debts and never yelled "warmonger" to a bill collector.

Rudy Vallee, once the national sensation as a youthful crooner, plays beyond-middle-age business tycoon in this musical and does it to perfection. The fellow can still click in singing department.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

NEWARK, N. J. An old soldier bounced into town and proved swiftly that another old soldier was wrong about the breed just fading away. General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower did some old-fashioned campaigning for his former labor adviser, Jim Mitchell—who really does not need any help in his drive for governor of this "garden" state.

Politics has grown seedy and weedy here and Jim is going to win because he has been denouncing crime, corruption, narcotics rings and because he has some mighty unusual troops of his own—unusual for a Republican candidate.

Jim Mitchell has more labor support, public and private, moral and financial, high in title and rank and file than any other GOP candidate for any office since Abe Lincoln came out of Illinois. Out of state, this has become one of the biggest political stories since JFK breakfasted with LBJ in LA.

It was Victor Reuther, brother of Walter, who discovered behind closed doors over in New York the other day the depth—or should I say the height—of the respect for Jim Mitchell in labor circles.

EARLY on the afternoon of Oct. 11, the AFL-CIO Executive Council adjourned its session in the Hotel Commodore and reconvened as the national Committee.

It was Victor Reuther, brother of Walter, who discovered behind closed doors over in New York the other day the depth—or should I say the height—of the respect for Jim Mitchell in labor circles.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is a little kooky and I'm afraid she's making our 11-year-old daughter the same way.

Flora is a bright child but she's small for her age and rather babyish compared with some of her girl friends. Yesterday Flora showed up at the breakfast table fully dressed except she had no blouse on—just a brassiere.

This girl doesn't have any more use for a brassiere than I have. I said nothing but the minute I got to my office I phoned my wife and asked her why she allowed Flora to wear a brassiere.

She said the girl begged for one because some of her friends wear them and she saw no harm in saying yes.

I say this is nuts. Who is right?—MERE FATHER.

Dear Mere: Some girls at 11 need a bra and they should wear one. But your youngster obviously needs one like South Dakota needs more grasshoppers.

Many of today's children can't wait to grow up and their foolish mothers are aiding and abetting them. And rushing the process inevitably breeds trouble.

Putting Flat Flora in a brassiere advances her fantasy. She is playing at being grown up and her mother is part of the game. What she will want to do next tee on Political Education (COPE). This is the high command of labor's country-wide political machine.

Soon Victor Reuther was urging his colleagues to get into the New Jersey gubernatorial fight. He wanted heavy support for Richard Hughes, the Democratic nominee.

Reuther said that John Kennedy's strength was involved. It would not be good, for the White House, he added, if New Jersey fell to the Republicans. The other national labor leaders listened politely.

Virtually all of them are fond indeed of John Kennedy, but they were about as moved by the oration as DeGaulle at a London lawn party. Fact is that one of labor's high command, Lee Minton, head of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union, spent most of his time during the week-long session gathering funds for Mitchell.

Many of the other leaders already were helping the Republican political war chest quietly.

HERE IN NEW JERSEY, labor has been abandoning the Democrats at a rate which would snarl an IBM computer. Just a few Sundays back, for example, Labor's Non-Partisan Committee—Jim Mitchell for Governor—opened its campaign with a $50-a-plate dinner.

Among the international union presidents who are lending their names and support are Dave Sullivan of the Building Service Employees International Union; Arnold Zander of the State, County and Municipal Employees; Howard Coughlin of the Office Employes International Union, Lee Minton and Mortimer Brandenburg of the Distillery Workers.

Add to this list the official backing of the state's building and construction trades, the railway unions, and even some officials of the United Auto Workers and you begin to get a sampling of a new political recipe.

Not the least of this "piquancy in politics," as one observer put it, is the fascinating phenomenon of important New York state leaders urging their New Jersey members (who commute into the big town) to campaign and vote for Mitchell.

One of these union chiefs, undoubtedly now among the most influential in the land, is Harry Van Arsdale, head of the New York City Central Labor Council.

VAN ARSDALE leads the Electrical Brotherhood Local 3—all of whose members work in New York City. But 3,000 of them live across the river in Jersey. Yet on Aug. 17, Van Arsdale called them to a mass rally in a huge auditorium in Manhattan. He introduced Mitchell as "the next governor of New Jersey."

Virtually all of these labor leaders fought hard for John Kennedy last year, who took the state by a plurality of 22,000. Without them Kennedy would have lost. With them Jim Mitchell will win more than the governorship. He will become the first of the Eisenhower "team" to roll up a heavy victory during the Kennedy Administration.

Thus Mitchell will become a one-man balance-of-power bloc in the GOP and perhaps one of its national candidates in 1964.

Uninvited Sister

Dear Ann: I'm sick at heart and need someone to tell me if I am wrong so I can apologize.

My sister came to visit the family. She lives 2,000 miles away and none of us had seen her for six years. She stayed with a niece who has a lovely, large home.

Several parties were given in my sister's honor and I was not invited to a single one. She was here for 10 days and I did not get to see her.

When I heard she was leaving on a certain train my husband and I went to the station to see her off. I told her I was sorry we didn't get together and she really exploded. She shouted, "You knew I was in town. Why didn't you invite me over?"

I didn't know you had to invite your own sister to your home. Am I wrong? Please tell me. I'm a nervous wreck over this. S.L.M.

Dear S. L. M. According to the social rule books, the visitor is expected to call those he wishes to see when he arrives in town. But your family situation has some fairly obvious missing links.

Why were you excluded from the parties? It's difficult to pro-

No Cat Lover

Dear Ann: Frequently I visited in the home of a friend who has a large Persian cat. I don't happen to care for cats but whenever I go over there out of a roomful of people the cat picks me to sit on.

Last night the cat became fascinated with my shoes. He began to take a few swipes at my shoe-laces. I said "scat," but the hostess ignored my signs of displeasure. So did the cat.

When I glanced down I saw that both my stockings were in shreds. The only comment from the hostess was "I hope they weren't expensive."

Well, she should know you can't buy a pair of decent nylons for less than $1.15. Do you think the hostess should have offered to replace my stockings?—FUMING.

Dear Fuming: A good hostess pays for damage inflicted on guests by her minor children and pets.

Peace for Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Here's Speech K Didn't Make But Should Have

This is a story of a speech that Premier Nikita Khrushchev didn't write but should have delivered this week to the Communist Party Congress and the people of Soviet Union. It could have been broadcast throughout the world. It could have given the biggest thrill of satisfaction and happiness, David Lawrence but, in particular it could have given the people of the Soviet Union a greater stimulus to progress than any Communist party program—past, present or future. The Soviet premier might have put it this way:

"The people of the Soviet Union today know more about the ill effects of war than any people on earth. They have suffered a devastation over the last 46 years far greater than would be inflicted by the dropping of a 100-megaton bomb on each of our 10 largest cities. We don't want war and shall never begin a war. Likewise, the United States and the West do not want war and will not start a war. This means there will be peace."

"We are still suffering today from the disasters of World War I and World War II. I shall quote to you here from a recent analysis of our 1959 census and of other census figures of the past. It says:

"Not a single generation of the Soviet people, except those who are today under 12 years of age, has escaped the repercussions of war, revolution, forced labor or famine. These misfortunes have left many scars on the Russian population."

"It has been estimated that in the period 1913 to 1959 population losses owing to such forces, together with birth deficits and modest emigration, amounted to the staggering total of 70 to 80 million people."

"Losses from World War I, revolution and turmoil of the initial post-revolution period have been assessed at more than 25 million."

"Losses during 1931 to 1933 from collectivization of agriculture with its attendant famine have been estimated at over 5 million."

"Preliminary results of the 1959 census showed that Soviet losses due to World War II alone amounted to 30 to 40 million."

"It now appears from the final census results and a population profile constructed for the total population that wartime losses, including birth deficits, were between 40 and 50 million, approximately as great as the total population of France today."

"The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics probably has the largest proportion of widows of any country in the world. This helps to explain the omnipresence of older women in the labor force, many of whom perform jobs that men would do in the United States."

"Women comprise 57 per cent of the agricultural labor force on collective farms."

"The deficit of boys and girls between 10 and 19 reflects the war-time decline in fertility, and the high infant and child mortality of World War II and the years which immediately followed the war. For some years, these birth deficits will limit the annual number of new entrants into the labor force and the armed services."

"Those quotations present our massive population losses, but these have greater meaning for us when the Soviet Union's population growth during the period from 1913 to 1959 is contrasted with that of the United States."

"In 46 years, our population grew from 160 million to 208.5 million—only a 30 per cent increase. In contrast, the population of the United States increased 80 per cent, growing from 97 million in 1913 to 176 million in 1959."

"So, because of two wars, we today have a more difficult problem than America. We don't want any more war. We want to make a full recovery from the effects of the last two wars—and to build a better standard of living for our own people."

"While we feel that today we must pay out big sums for defense, we can hope sometime soon for disarmament agreements with the West which shall reduce this cost immeasurably and truly bring peace to the world."

The Soviet premier didn't write or deliver the foregoing speech, but he could logically have made it. He, more than anyone else in the Soviet Union, knows that public opinion in his own country is against war.

As for the statistics about population losses, the Soviet premier could easily verify them with his own census data. The source of the figures and of the quoted analyses given above is the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., a nonprofit, private scientific, educational organization which gathers, analyzes and interprets population data.

It is directed by a group of interested in the study of the to world problems.

'Look, Ma, I'm Waving'

By TRUMAN TWILL

You know the letdown feeling when a foreign big-shot jabsbers for two minutes and the interpreter says, "Pofutsky says he's glad to be here."

That's how I feel at a football game when the pigskin big-shots do all that telephoning, arm-waving and whispering, then send in a play that loses four yards.

Let's come to grips, shall we? What do those phrenetic big-shots who obstruct themselves between football players and spectators talk about on the telephone? What's the secret?

"Hay, Coach, did you see that one?"

"You mean the one with the oola-la or that skinny kid with the curls?"

"I mean the one with the double oola-la—the ah-you-kid one with the long legs—the one just coming out of a cartwheel. She can do my downfield blocking for me any time. How about you, Coach?"

"Yeah, heah, but when you've been in this racket as long as me you've seen 'em all. Where are all the oola-las of yesteryear? I'll tell you where they are. They're in the band mother's club. Their daughters are doing the oola-la now. It springs eternal like stupidity who's wobbleheaded kid we got in there at fullback? I don't dare look at him for fear he will be doing something wrong. What's the score?"

"We're behind 14 points, coach, and the game ain't getting any younger. I'm just getting a lot older. You got anything up your sleeve?"

"Nothing but a contract for one year, funny man. Hear that inverse cheer from behind me? That fullback just flubbed again. Where did you say he came from? You sure we dressed in the boys' locker room for this slaughter? What does it look like from up there, Hawkeye?"

"Worse than it looks down there, Coach. Put in a good word for me if worst comes to worst, won't you. But listen I have been watching their left tackle and he has a broken finger. It sticks out funny and he's trying to keep it out of sight. Try a couple through there. The kid may be so busy counting his fingers right now he will forget what he's supposed to be doing. Whoops, we lost the ball. Well, that's the way she bounces. Where do you expect to go from here?"

"Wherever it is, Goo-goo-Eyes, they'll be there."

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Penicillin Isn't All-Purpose Medicine

The young mother with her coughing youngster on her knees sat behind me on the train. As the child blasted forth on the back of my head, she turned to the older woman at her side and said, "He kept us up all night. So tonight I'm taking him to the doctor for a penicillin shot."

Then, as I got up to change my seat after a second and third blast, she remarked to the passengers in general, "What's with him? Hasn't he ever heard a child cough before? What does he think a baby like this can do to a man his size?"

WELL, LET'S BEGIN at the end. A baby like this can fill the air with exactly the same numbers and varieties of infecting organisms as a man the size of the giant wrestlers seen on TV.

In point of fact, the coughing baby is an even greater menace than a coughing giant. For the latter might have the consideration and courtesy of coughing into a handkerchief or a tissue; or of covering his mouth with his hand; or of turning his head to one side so as not to spray innocent bystanders. The baby cannot be expected to do any of these things.

The considerate mother, however, can and should attempt to protect both herself and innocent bystanders by covering her child's mouth and nose with a handkerchief or tissue whenever it's possible to anticipate an upcoming cough.

Again, despite her good intentions, what does this young mother hope to accomplish when she spends hard-earned money for a visit to a doctor, not to seek advice, but to order treatment?

For the fact of the matter is that there's probably not 1 chance in 100 that her suggested "shot of penicillin" will have any significant effect on her child's cough or on whatever the condition is that's causing the cough.

This is not to belittle the accomplishments of penicillin, but to emphasize the fact that you don't shoot in the most powerful of available antibiotics unless you have some idea of the nature of the target, and some idea of the dangers inherent in your blind efforts at random practice.

TO BE MORE SPECIFIC, the vast majority of organisms that cause respiratory infection and resultant cough are not killed or even damaged by penicillin. Viruses, influenza bacilli and the bacteria that are responsible for whooping cough and tuberculosis are what is called "penicillin insensitive." So your ammunition is wasted if these bugs are your targets.

And then there are the risks. For, if your child previously received penicillin, whether in milk, as a local application or in tablet form, he might have become sensitized as have countless thousands of other children and adults. Then, the "shot" you so lightly suggested, or perhaps insisted on, might have produced an allergic reaction whose intensity could vary between a mere nuisance phenomenon and a fatal shock.

SNAKE, DOG, DOCTOR PUT HOLES IN FARMER

CONYERS, Ga. AP — Farmer J. T. Kirkpatrick walked across a field to feed his neighbor's horses, a hole cut in his shoe to make room for a sore toe.

Suddenly a highland moccasin, a poisonous snake, grabbed Kirkpatrick's toe. He kicked the snake loose and ran home to call a doctor.

Leaving his house on a hurried trip to the hospital, Kirkpatrick's dog, joining in the excitement, bit the farmer on the leg.

To top it off, a doctor punched more holes in Kirkpatrick to combat the snake and dog bites. Kirkpatrick is recovering.

COMPACT CAMPSITE—The man on the right observing this vacationing family is not Paul Bunyan. It is Bill Bergoffen of the U. S. Forest Service, lending perspective to the figures at a model campsite in the "world's smallest national forest." Tiny, 1 1/2-acre Beaver National Forest is located at Ghost Ranch Museum 65 miles northwest of Santa Fe, N. M. Other exhibits tell of the uses of America's wooded lands. After their visit, tourists may enjoy the same opportunities in nearby full-scale Carson National Forest.

Group Sifts Goods Exported to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate group takes a look today at the type of goods being exported to the Soviet Union and other Iron Curtain nations.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee wants to find out if strategic materials that could increase the Soviet bloc's war-making potential are included—and, if so, why. Two days of public hearings have been scheduled.

In the House, a special committee headed by Rep. A. Paul Kitchin, D-N.C., has been appointed to conduct a similar inquiry. It will start Wednesday with closed-door hearings.

The Senate subcommittee originally scheduled a series of hearings in September, shortly before Congress adjourned, but they were called off. At that time Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, whose department handles the granting of export licenses, was scheduled to be a witness.

Earlier this year the Internal Security unit sharply criticized the Commerce Department's granting of a license for the export of 45 precision grinding machines to the Soviet Union.

The subcommittee had called granting of the license a grave error. It said export of the machines would have enabled the Soviet Union to speed up by several years the production of better and smaller missile guidance systems.

The Best Career

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Choosing a career is one of the great problems of life.

Many men in middle age, after working a quarter century or more at one calling, wonder if they didn't perhaps make the wrong choice.

They half-yearn to be something else.

The office worker wonders if he wouldn't be happier if he had become an engineer. The traveling salesman wonders if he wouldn't get more kick out of living if he ran a shoe store. The doctor wonders if it wouldn't be better to be a business tycoon—and enjoy his own ulcers instead of having to treat those of others.

Yes, at times we all feel that, given it to do over again, we would choose a different career.

My daydream choice is to be a hermit, a hermit with a nice home in the woods and an inherited income for life. What better existence could one aspire to?

You wouldn't have to worry about paying income taxes or meeting mortgage payments or dodging bill collectors.

You wouldn't have to answer people who, in the middle of a heat wave, ask, "Hot enough for you?"

You wouldn't have to wait in line at checkout counter in a supermarket.

You wouldn't have to look for a parking space.

You wouldn't have to explain to a wife why you took the 7:12 commuter train home instead of the 5:53.

You could gain 15 pounds in weight without a guilty feeling feeling that you were letting down civilization.

Oh, there are a lot of advantages to being a hermit. Such as: You wouldn't have to go to cocktail parties.

You wouldn't have to listen to after-dinner speeches, attend PTA meetings, fight crabgrass, or shovel a path to the garage on snowy days.

You wouldn't have to borrow money to contribute to worthwhile causes.

You could scratch yourself in public, as the only spectators would be chipmunks and squirrels.

You could flick cigar ashes on the floor and not get bawled out.

You could take a shower without having to fight your way through a bathroom forest of drying nylon stockings.

You could cut your own hair and not have to listen to a barber cluck, "It's getting a bit thin on top. I'd do something about it if I were you, sir."

Oh, it would be wonderful out there—alone in the peaceful woods. No headlines to scare you silly, no maniac motorists to make you leap for the safety of the curb, no peddler at your door trying to sell you an electronic can opener.

You could let the dishes pile up in the sink for a week at a time if you chose.

You wouldn't wear holes in your pants reaching for tips to placate hatcheck girls, waiters, and cab drivers.

You would never, never, never have to ask the boss for a raise.

Each evening as the sun sank in glory you'd sit in your front porch rocker, patting your hound dog's head, as you brooded over the one big decision of the day:

"What shall I do tomorrow—go hunting, or go fishing?"

When you get right down to it, why doesn't everybody run away to the woods and become a hermit?

Drawing, above, shows how the basement of the building has been converted into one of the largest, best-stocked fallout shelters in the nation. It has its own electric generator, tanks holding 105,000 gallons of water and enough food to feed 900 persons for 15 days. The fortresslike bank, right, also contains the world's largest vault, holding assets worth $5 billion. Cost of the fallout shelter is about $180,000. Similar projects are being carried out in district branches in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Athens, Ohio. Federal Reserve personnel are also being aided in building shelters in their homes.

Ruth Tooze To Speak At Schools, YW and Town Hall

Miss Ruth Tooze, director of the Children's Book Caravan, will be in Salem this week to appear at the Town Hall program and to speak before school groups and other organizations.

Her appearance at the Town Hall program will be Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Junior High School auditorium. Her topic will be, "Life in Cambodia."

Miss Tooze was sent to Cambodia as a cultural representative of the State Department four years ago. There she worked with native teachers and schools in organizing native literature and developing materials for use in the cultural development of a country.

While in Cambodia, Miss Tooze had opportunities to study not only the culture of the country but the political organization, strengths and weaknesses as well as the effectiveness, or lack of it, of United States financial assistance.

Though Miss Tooze is not a political analyst in the professional sense, her keen understanding of people and a perceptive mind is said to enable her to develop many strong convictions in the area of U. S. foreign assistance.

Her Children's Book Caravan includes some 800 to 1,000 different titles, grouped according to grade and subject classification. Miss Tooze will discuss these books in her various appearances in Salem schools this week.

In addition to her work with the children in the Salem schools and her Town Hall lecture, Miss Tooze will speak as follows:

Today—3:45 p.m., primary teachers at Buckeye School; 8:15 p.m., keynote speaker at YWCA annual meeting.

Tuesday—8 p.m., McKinley PTA.

Wednesday—3:45 p.m., inter-

Ruth Tooze

mediate teachers at Buckeye School; 7:30 p.m., meeting of parents at Buckeye School.

Thursday she will speak at both the Junior and Senior High Schools. Friday noon she will address the elementary principals' section of the Annual East Central Ohio Teachers Association meeting at Canton.

Freezing weather covered Northern New England and behind the cold front in Northern and Central Plains and westward through the Rockies. The 40s and 50s were the rule ahead of the cold front and in the West Coast States, with 60s reported in Southern California coastal areas. The 60s also prevailed in most of Texas and Florida with the 70s in extreme southern sections.

First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, one of the old Stalin boys in the Kremlin hierarchy who has clung to power, has demanded all members of the anti-party group who tried to overthrow Khrushchev in 1957 be kicked out of the party.

Molotov and Malenkov have been singled out as the ringleaders of the attempted coup. Others who have come under attack are former Premier Nikolai Bulganin, former First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich and the aged ex-President Marshal Klementi Y. Voroshilov.

Schenck made a star of Fatty Arbuckle and had a backlog of Arbuckle films ready for release when Arbuckle was accused of causing the death of a girl dancer at a wild party. He was never convicted but his films were practically worthless and Schenck lost millions.

He was convicted in 1941 of two counts of income tax evasion and sentenced to a three-year prison term. The sentence was suspended in 1942 after he served four months and five days at the Federal Correctional Institution in Danbury, Conn.

DePugh's wife, mother of five children, charged with the rest, lugged an automatic rifle.

DePugh said similar maneuvers have been held in San Antonio, Tex., Omaha, Neb., Philadelphia, Columbus, Ohio, Kansas City, Mo., and Newark, N.J.

Launched described his arrest as a "misunderstanding about the nature and purpose of our organization."

He said he had legally bought the weapons and they are "used solely for instruction. All are deactivated and none of our members have any ammunition for them."

DePugh said "we're just loyal American citizens who are tired of being pushed around by the Communists and who want to do something to stem the tide of their advance."

DePugh says he and nine other men founded the Minutemen in June 1960 and it has grown to a nationwide membership of some 25,000.

One Killed As Fire Burns Out Liner

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP)
—Fire burned out an Italian liner within sight of this British West Indies port today after all but one of the 750 persons aboard escaped.

All hope was abandoned for salvaging the 17,321-ton Bianca C.,

night shortly after anchoring about a mile off shore.

Maritime officials were investigating reports of an explosion before the fire.

The rescue was carried out smoothly in calm Caribbean seas.
Chief engineer Rodizza Napale was killed and eight crewmen injured, but there were no reports of casualties among the 400 pas-

The Bianca C. was on a regular

Trujillo Family Members Leaving Riot-Torn Island

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Trujillo family's two luxurious pleasure yachts today were reported ferrying members of the dynasty into self-imposed exile from the strife-torn Dominican Republic.

Gen. Jose Arizmendi Trujillo, a brother of the late Generalissimo Raphael Trujillo, reportedly boarded the luxury yacht Presidente Trujillo during the weekend and headed for some Caribbean port, presumably Martinique, to catch a ship for Spain.

The four-masted sailing ship Angelita, on which Hollywood beautifies frolicked with the generalissimo's son Ramfis, was reported en route to Bermuda to pick up another brother of the assassinated dictator, Gen. Hector B. Trujillo, and his American-born wife, the former Alma McLaughlin.

But despite continuing unrest and the possibility that the 31 years of Trujillo rule might be drawing to a close, there was no indication that Ramfis — Gen.
Raphael Trujillo Jr., the chief of the Dominican armed forces — had any intention of fleeing. Both he and President Joaquin Balaguer have rejected opposition demands that all the Trujillos and particularly Ramfis get out.

Rock-throwing mobs continue to battle police in at least two provinces, and at least one man was reported killed about 120 miles north of Ciudad Trujillo.

Mitchell Scores 3 TD's As Browns Nip Steelers 30-28

Three Field Goals Booted by Groza

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Playing his next to last game with the Cleveland Browns before leaving for the Army, Bobby Mitchell demonstrated how sorely he will be missed.

The speedy halfback had touchdown runs of 7, 9 and 18 yards in Sunday's 30-28 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers in which the Browns came from behind twice to win.

All the other Cleveland scoring was from the golden toe of veteran Lou Groza, who kicked three field goals and three extra points. The victory kept the Browns (4-2) within one game of Philadelphia and New York, who are tied for the lead in the eastern division of the National Football League with 5-1 records.

Mitchell gained 119 yards in 12 carries and caught four passes for 47 yards.

Cleveland had a 10-0 lead at the half on Lou Groza's 24-yard field goal in the first quarter and a six-yard scoring run by Mitchell in the second period.

But the Steelers came to life in the third period after intercepting a pass. Six plays later, Pittsburgh quarterback Rudy Bukich hit Buddy Dial in the end zone with a 12-yard heave.

That was the first of two touchdowns by the rangy Steeler end, who caught nine passes for 235 yards.

Tom Tracy, who scored Pittsburgh's other two touchdowns, plunged over from the one a few minutes later to put the Steelers in front.

The Steelers led 14-13 at the end of the third quarter after Groza kicked a 36-yard field goal.

Mitchell's second score got the lead back for the Browns, but not for long. Bobby fumbled a pitch-out from Milt Plum, and Pittsburgh recovered on the Cleveland 22.

Dial caught a pass from Bukich on the Cleveland 1, and Tracy plunged over for the score. The extra point gave the Steelers a 21-20 lead.

The Browns drove from their own 27 to the Steelers' 18 in six plays, and Mitchell darted and danced his way around end for the score.

Groza capped the Cleveland scoring with a 12-yard field goal, giving the Browns a 30-21 lead with time running out.

The last score came when Bukich hit Dial on a pass play that covered 88 yards for a touchdown. Dial broke around Jim Shofner, caught the pass at about the Cleveland 38 and dashed across the goal line.

Other gridders pictured are Jim Sternagle (21) of Western Reserve, and Guard Eddie Less, (48), halfback Tim Davis (43) and quarterback Dave Tyo (34) of Greenford. Greenford won its first game of the year 24-8.

Local Jayvees Win 22-8 For Third Victory

With sophomore halfback Mike DeRenzio cracking across for two touchdowns, the Salem Reserves football team extended their win streak to three with a 22-8 triumph over the Wellsville Jayvees at Reilly Stadium Saturday night.

The game was about even in the first half, with both teams held scoreless in the first period and each pushing across eight points in the second quarter. DeRenzio scampered 16 yards to open the scoring in the second stanza, with sophomore halfback Dick Capel running for the two extra points. Quarterback Jim Reed of Wellsville got the TD back on a sneak, and a pass from Reed to end Tim Barborak evened the count to 8-8 at intermission.

Salem came roaring back in the second half. DeRenzio ran across from two yards out for his second tally in the third period. Halfback David Taus' try for the extra points on a run fell short and the score stood at 14-8 at three quarters.

The local reserves iced the contest in the final stanza when halfback Lenny Filler struck pay dirt from six yards out. Dick Capel ran across his second set of extra points to climax the scoring.

The Jayvees' other wins have been over Minerva 40-16 and Leetonia 59-6.

Predictions already are being made that the 1962 National League home run championship will be won by a slugger who hits 50 homers or more. The NL plays a 162-game schedule in 1962 with New York and Houston coming on the scene.

Greenford Posts 1st Season Victory 24-8

The Greenford High School football team, winless in its first six starts, broke into the winners' column Saturday afternoon with a 24-8 Inter-County League triumph over Western Reserve before a homecoming crowd.

Greenford broke out on top with 16 points in the second period after the teams battled to a scoreless first quarter. Junior halfback Eddie Feren pushed across the first Bobcat tally early in the stanza on a five-yard run, and then halfback Jim Johnson romped seven yards later in the period. Freshman halfback Tim Davis and junior halfback Kenny Paulin added four points on two extra points runs to make the score 16-0 at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, both teams struck for eight points in the final canto. For Greenford, Paulin shook loose for a 10-yard run into pay dirt, and Western Reserve's fullback Paul Bates tossed a 40-yard touchdown pass to quarterback Tom Owens. Feren ran over the extra points for Greenford, and Owens did likewise for the losers.

Greenford's victory gives it a 1-1 mark overall and a 1-3 league mark. Western Reserve suffered its fourth straight loop loss and is 1-6 for the season.

The losers will travel to Crestview next Saturday, and Greenford will move to Springfield Local the same afternoon.

Ohio State Grinds Out 10-0 Victory Over Northwestern

By RON ROCKWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Perched at the top of the Big Ten with three other teams, Ohio State's Bucks seem safe for another week.

The Buckeyes ground out their second shutout in two conference starts Saturday, beating stubborn Northwestern 10-0. Ohio State has given up only 10 points in its three victories and a tie.

State goes against Wisconsin at Madison this week, and the record hints another win for the Buckeyes. The Badgers, smothered 47-15 by Iowa Saturday, have a 1-2 conference record and are 3-2 overall despite being outscored 90-51.

The Buck-Badger tilt is the feature of a 24-game program involving Ohio schools Saturday. Thirteen are against out-of-state opponents.

Both scoring plays in the victory at Northwestern were set up by slashing runs by fullback Bob Ferguson. He blasted 38 yards to get the ball in range for Dick Van Raaphorst's 24-yard field goal in the second period. Later, Ferguson bulled 21 yards to Northwestern's 18, and quarterback Bill Mrukowski dashed around end for the clinching touchdown with 2:04 left.

Home fans had little to cheer about in Ohio Saturday. Of the 17 games played on Ohio college grids, host teams won only four. Twelve visitors went home victorious and one game ended in a 41-41 tie.

That tie pitted two winless Ohio Conference teams, Marietta and Kenyon.

Kenyon scored on three touchdown strikes of 56 yards or more within six minutes to take a 33-13 lead early in the second half. The lead dwindled to eight before Kenyon intercepted a pass deep in Marietta territory, apparently sewing it up. But two plays and three delay-of-game penalties later, Marietta recovered a fumble and then scored a touchdown and a two-point conversion in the waning seconds.

Three teams tasted defeat for the first time Saturday, reducing the ranks of Ohio's unbeaten and untied to five: Bowling Green, Baldwin-Wallace, Wittenberg and Otterbein, with five wins each, and John Carroll with three.

Those knocked by the wayside were Wooster, 31-8 losers to Akron; Central State, beaten 28-13 by Tennessee A & I, and Western Reserve, butted 7-0 by Allegheny.

The first Ohio team to clinch at least a share of its league title is Findlay. Findlay beat Bluffton 28-6, Ohio Northern downed Ashland 28-13 and Defiance blasted Wilmington 48-26 in Mid-Ohio League action.

Bowling Green (4-0) took a tighter hold on the lead in the rugged Mid-American Conference with a 21-6 win at Kent State. Ohio University, with a 28-18 victory at Miami, and Western Michigan, a 7-0 winner at Toledo, moved into second with 2-1 records.

Wittenberg, Muskingum and Otterbein ran their Ohio Conference-leading records to 4-0 with lopsided victories, while Wooster fell, Wittenberg whitewashed Capital 36-0, Muskingum rapped Heidelberg 23-0 and Otterbein blasted Hiram 31-7. Other conference action had Denison edging Mount Union 21-20 and Ohio Wesleyan downing Oberlin 20-10.

John Carroll won its third straight in the President's Conference 34-12 over Bethany, and Case Tech beat Thiel 29-12.

In non-conference frays, Houston beat Cincinnati 13-7, Xavier overpowered Dayton 14-0, Albright defeated Youngstown 20-6 and Baldwin-Wallace downed Hillsdale 16-7.

American Enters Mexican Amateur Golf Tournament

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP)—Dudley Wyson, one of the individual stars of the United States six Americas cup victory, goes out after another international golf jewel today—the Mexican amateur national championships.

The 22-year-old McKinney, Tex., insurance man was the only member of Uncle Sam's star-studded Americas Cup Team who could spare the time to compete in Mexico's big tournament here next week.

Wyson figured in 6½ points as the U.S. team swept to another Americas Cup triumph over Mexico and Canada. The Yanks scored a total of 29 points compared with 14 for Canada and 11 for Mexico over the 7,063-yard, par 72 Club Campestre course.

It was a resounding victory and young Wyson's star was one of the brightest on the victorious U.S. team consisting of Jack Nicklaus, plagued with a bad back; former champions Charles Coe and Deane Beman; and Bill Hyndman III. Bob Gardner and Charles Smith.

The U.S. players won 4½ of a possible 6 points in the final day's team matches and 10 of a possible 12 in the individual battles. They had scored 14½ points also on Saturday.

Wyson teamed with Nicklaus to score 4 points without a loss in the team competition and he won 2½ points in individual play.

What a difference a year makes

Adams State College's track team scored nary a point in the 1960 Rocky Mountain Conference track meet. In 1961 it won the championship.
